Francesinha

Typical food

Is a Portuguese sandwich, made with layers of toasted bread and assorted hot meats such as roast, steak, wet-cured ham, linguíça, or chipolata over which sliced cheese is melted by the ladling of a near-boiling tomato-and-beer sauce called molho de francesinha. It is typically served with french fries.

Porto, the second-largest city in Portugal, is a destination that should be on every traveller's bucket list. Located in the northern region of Portugal, this city is a charming combination of history, culture, and modernity. Porto is consistently ranked highly as a top tourist destination.
